WANT OF DECISION.—Sidney Smith, in his work on "Moral Philosophy," speaks in this wise of what men lose for want of a little courage:

A great deal of talent is lost to the world for the want of a little courage. Every day sends to their graves a number of obscure men who have only remained in obscurity because their timidity has prevented them from making a first effort, and who, if they only had been induced to begin, would, in all probability, have gone great lengths in the career of fame. The fact is, that in doing anything in the world worth doing, we must not stand shivering on the bank thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances; it did all very well before the flood, when a man could consult his friends upon an intended publication for a hundred and fifty years, and live to see its success for six or seven centuries afterwards; but at present a man waits and doubts, and consults his brothers and his uncles, and his particular friends, till one day he finds that he is sixty-five years of age, that he has lost so much time in consulting first cousins and particular friends that he has no more time to follow their advice. There is so little time for over-squeamishness at present that the opportunity slips away. The very period of life at which man chooses to venture, if ever, is so confined, that it is no bad rule to preach up the necessity, in such instances of a little violence done to the feelings and efforts made in defiance of strict and sober calculation.

NEW BUSINESS FOR BIDDIES.—A gentleman, who was in New York last fall, tells us that, happening to be at Henderson's servants' employment office, one day, he found the place crowded with Irish women and girls, ninety of whom were to start that afternoon, for Tennessee, to pick cotton. The agent of a plantation had come to that city to hire this sort of help, at twenty dollars per month, with board and all expenses of travel paid. Mr. Henderson had made contracts with ninety able-bodied women, and could easily have doubled the number, had they been needed. Such is one of the unexpected developments of the war. The women seemed delighted with the prospects before them.

CHILDREN who grow good and die young, who are held up as models by teachers and others, are not as a general thing favorite studies for the young, with all their generous human impulses alive and in harmony with the work designed for them here. One such said to a clergyman who had described the death of a good child: "I do hate those dead babies! I want to hear about children who don't want to die."

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 8, 1865.

WHIF?

The church organ of the Mormon leaders has ceased the publication of Tabernacle sermons. It now gives to the public only a synopsis of them. We are really sorry for the change. The files of the church organ are valuable and interesting. We find sufficient material within the pages of that publication to answer our purposes for the next five years. We understand, however, the present motive—at least we think we do. The characters of the sermons heretofore made public, do not stand the test of an examination. They have a certain unpleasant construction when investigated by the light of Truth. The leaders have now concluded that they will only give a respectable synopsis of their teachings. They will not make a record for the future. They will confine their ravings to words—type shall not fasten upon them any evidence for future use.

Are their assertions true—if they teach by inspiration—if they are the chosen ones—why are they afraid to give full and complete publicity to their instructions? We remember when Mr. Hooper was delegate in Congress from Utah, Judge Cradlebaugh, then in Washington, addressed an open letter to that gentleman, making distinct and positive charges against the Mormon leaders and challenged him to a discussion. The challenge was declined. Not many months ago, one of the Twelve said in the Salt Lake Tabernacle—that he would not argue with any person concerning Mormonism—that he knew it was right, etc. If the practices and teachings of Mormon leaders are right, why are they afraid to discuss them with the public—why do they forbid the people to read a journal not in their interests—why do they now cease the full publication of all their sermons as heretofore—why are they continually howling to the people, warning them against apostasy and hurling anathemas at the outside world?

If the practices and teachings of church leaders are right, then do not hide the light thereof under a bushel, but place it where all the world can see it. The truth—and nothing but the truth—is all the people of this Territory demand. They will have it.

Now, it is a fact that the commissioned officers on this coast, or anywhere else are too liberally paid; too much distinction between soldiers is ever productive of evil; their expenses are not necessarily more than the private's, and their privileges and allowances are far greater.—Ex.

The man who wrote the above did not understand his subject. It is a fact that a veteran in the California volunteers, holding a Sergeant's warrant can save more money than a Lieutenant in the line. We apprehend the article from which the above was taken, was written by a small fellow who has not brains enough to learn the duty of a soldier.

A RECORD.—Jeff Davis visited Portland, Maine, in 1858 and made a speech. He closed with the following eulogy of the re-union:

"If, at some future time, when I am mingled with the dust, and the arm of my infant son has been nerved for deeds of manhood, the storm of war should burst upon your city, I feel that, relying upon his inheriting the instincts of his ancestors and mine, I may pledge him in that perilous hour to stand by your side in maintaining the honor of a flag whose constellation, though torn and smoked in many a battle by sea and land, has never been stained with dishonor, and will, I trust, forever fly as free as the breeze which unfolds it."

The strongest man feels the influence of woman's gentlest thoughts, as the mightiest oak quivers in the softest breeze.

Gwin's Domain.

Gwin has again turned up on the Pacific coast—this time in the character of a viceroy and the agent of the Napoleon-Maximilian clique. Formerly he represented California in the United States Senate—proved a traitor at the commencement of the present war, and was succeeded by the present incumbent, James McDougal.

The country over which Gwin has assumed control, embraces five Mexican states, to wit: Sonora, Durango, Sinaloa, Chihuahua and Lower California. These states have an area of 305,619 square miles and a population of about 650,000. The entire area of Mexico is less than 800,000 square miles. So it appears that Napoleon has demanded of, and received from, Maximilian nearly one-half of his entire empire. This one-half contains a trifle more than one-tenth of the population of Mexico. If the public debt is divided in proportion to the population, Gwin's government will commence operations with a debt of fifteen million of dollars; but if the debt is proportioned according to the area, then it will start with a burden of seventy millions of dollars—further, if the debt is apportioned according to the richness and productiveness of the respective divisions, Gwin should be willing to assume about one hundred and twenty million dollars of the entire debt—thus leaving to Maximilian about twenty-five or thirty millions.

Mints are located in the states of Durango, Sinaloa and Chihuahua at which considerable amounts of gold and silver are annually coined. While Maximilian retains the larger portion of the population and a few more square miles, Gwin has the richest mines and the finest cotton lands.

It is the evident intention to fill up these states with a French and American population, and establish a firm and enduring monarchy there—a dependency of France. The game opens well. We rather admire the programme, filled as it is with sublime impudence. We have no idea that it will succeed. Gwin will flourish a brief career. That is all—nothing more.

MINING DEPARTMENT.—Congressman Cole of California has introduced a bill into the House of Representatives, which provides that a Mining Department shall be established in the Department of the Interior, for the collection and diffusion of useful information on the subject of mining. The Commissioner of the Department will have a salary of three thousand dollars per annum.

UTAH TERRITORY claims to have one hundred thousand inhabitants, yet according to the report of the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue for 1863, she paid into the U. S. Treasury the paltry sum of $6,140, while Nebraska, with only thirty-five thousand inhabitants, and no mineral resources, paid double that sum, her aggregate being $12,380.—Ex.

Some people out here talk about establishing "a metallic basis." Brilliant idea.

NATIONAL BANK.—The establishment of a National Bank in Salt Lake City with a capital of half a million, would be an important step in the right direction and materially assist in the development of Utah. We think there is monied influence enough here to establish such an institution.

SOUND ON THE DRAMA.—Brigham Young publishes a letter in favor of theaters, and thinks that dramatic performances are calculated to exercise a good influence among the Mormons. Brigham should take to the stage himself as he is a first-rate villain for a melo-drama.—Sac. Bee.

MAXIMILIAN wants a railway from Vera Cruz to some port on the Pacific coast. An imperial decree has assigned the task to a M. Escadon.

The Mormons.

We clip the following article from the Stockton (Cal.) Independent. It shows what the outside world think of certain doings of the leaders of Utah:

"One Bishop Woolley, a Mormon, has been inciting his people at Salt Lake, to tear down the houses of all Mormons who give shelter to Gentiles. The Vedette comes at him with a promise that if his threat is executed the military authorities will attend to him and his Mormon mob. It advises all persons so threatened 'to take a shot gun with twelve buck-shot in each barrel, and send the attacking Danites to hell.' In writing this, we are reminded that some two months ago the Vedette alluded to a sermon then recently preached by Brigham Young to a large congregation of his people, in which he hoped that the people of the North and South would go on with the work of killing each other, and expressed the wish that the Union might be destroyed. These sentiments were heartily amended by the listeners; and when Brigham by signs which appeared to be well understood by all the Mormons present, pointed to the South, toward Mexico, and triumphantly prophesied that aid would speedily come to Mormondom from that quarter, he was responded to by knowing chuckles and many amens. The sequel to this scene is now transpiring in Northern Mexico. The French have formally occupied Sonora, the Gulf of California, and hold the mouth of the Colorado river. It is on the Colorado, at the mouth of the Rio Virgen, in western New Mexico. (Arizona.—ED. VEDETTE.) and only some seventy-five miles south of the Utah line, that the Mormons have established a new city, which is to bring them in communication with the Pacific. San Francisco, it was thought would profit by this, and monopolize the trade of Salt Lake and Utah. But a glance at the map shows us at once that under French rule, Guaymas will rule San Francisco out of the Utah market, and not only out of Utah but Western New Mexico as well. Hence the exultation of all Mormondom at the success of the French in Northern Mexico. These wretched polygamists are thorough traitors and enemies of the United States and ought to be well whipped as well as closely watched."

Instructions have already been given for such as so desire to remove to the cotton country—that they will be nearer Headquarters. Brigham has said he may go south, but no further. The people of this Territory will do well to avoid the counsel of the leaders in this respect. The Legislature has asked Congress to attach all that portion of Arizona lying west of the Colorado river to Utah for Governmental purposes. We do not think the request will be granted. The nation has about enough of its territory under Mormon rule. Arizona will not quietly permit the head of navigation of the Colorado river, to be taken from her. Colonel Poston the delegate from that Territory is wide awake and the Utah Legislators will slip up on that proposition. We will refer to this subject more fully in a few days. We can see as far through a grind stone as anybody else when there is a hole punched through the center of it.

FORT BRIDGER, U. T.
February 1st, 1865.

Editors Vedette:—I seat myself to let you know how we, (the Enlisted men) at Fort Bridger, celebrated the memorable 29th of January, the anniversary of our victory over the Indians at Bear River. W. T., Jan. 29th, 1863. As the 29th came on Sunday this year, we had to postpone the festivities until Monday evening, when we had one of the finest Balls ever given at Fort Bridger. The room was decorated with evergreens, transparencies, sabres and carbines; while last, but not least amongst the decorations, were about twenty ladies, which made it one of the most agreeable parties ever given at Fort Bridger. The getting up of the supper was conducted by Serg. Farley of Company M, 2nd Cav. C. V., and it was indeed a feast. For you know that Mr. Stultz of the Camp Douglas Bakery can't be beat in his line. There were but forty-seven tickets sold, owing to the limited size of our hall. They tripped the "light fantastic" until half past four, when we all dispersed highly pleased with the arrangements—only regretting that we did not have it to do over. By giving this a place in your columns you will oblige
ONE OF YOUR SUBSCRIBERS.

We are under obligations to the Telegraph Operators of S. L. City, for the following:

"Mud Springs, Feb. 6th, 9 P. M.

It is doubtful whether we can keep the line in order until the Indians are driven entirely off. The party which went to repair it report two polls cut down and the wire carried off from four poles. We have been obliged to take the wire east to repair it. It will be difficult to pursue them successfully till we have cannon to dislodge them from the places where cavalry cannot charge. The skirmish to-day was very brisk for two or three hours. The Indians were on the hills at day-break, evidently meditating an attack, and commenced it soon after the arrival of our main body. We were taken greatly at disadvantage, our men and stock having traveled all night for two nights in succession. There are several points commanding the station where the Indians crept under the banks and in gullies, where the cavalry could not charge. At one point they came within seventy-five yards. The most of our men were wounded in contending for this point.

The Indians were armed with Hawkins' Mississippi or Enfield rifles. Some had revolvers. They generally fired too high else we should have lost many men. Soon after noon their fire slackened and they gradually drew off to the bluffs, and disappeared about dark. As soon as we could get possession of the two most troublesome points we dug a rifle pit on each, which are now occupied by our men. So far as we can judge, they were Cheyennes, with, perhaps, some Sioux and Camanches, and some white men. Different officers estimate the number from five hundred to one thousand, and the number wounded from ten to twenty—at least five hundred could be counted at one time. They were on all sides of us, but when they came within gun shot they were either riding at full speed or in ambush. We expect them to-night or in the morning, and shall be better prepared. The men were all evidently willing for a fight, but I am sorry they could not have a fair chance."

PUBLIC LANDS.—The Government has, since July 1st, 1863, disposed of 4,221,342 acres of the public land, and has now surveyed and opened for settlement, 133,000,000 acres. What a country?

The shipments of bullion from Reese River now amount to twenty thousand dollars per week. Rush Valley and Bingham Cañon will come in after a while. Go slow.

EIGHT VETO.—Governor Blasdel of Nevada has reached his eighth veto. Lively old time between him and the Legislature just now.

ARMY HORSES.—The United States army uses up 250,000 horses per annum. So says a veterinary surgeon, but we do not believe him.

CALIFORNIA did not produce as much wheat, barley, oats and rye during the year 1864 as she did in 1863. Corn was the only article exhibiting any increase.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE TAX now produces about three millions annually. It is thought with proper management it will reach not less than five millions.

EGAN CANON.—The Social Company has shipped 15,000 ounces of bullion within the past two weeks. That is doing very well.

GEN. SICKLES.—This officer is expected to arrive in San Francisco to-day. He comes to the Department on an inspecting tour.

THADDEUS STEVENS of Pennsylvania is the oldest member of the House of Representatives. Age, seventy one years.

CAMP DOUGLAS U. T.
February 3d, 1865.

Local Ed. Vedette:—Sir—Inasmuch as you don't see the "point," and still persist that Mr. Avet performed a very charitable act in furnishing the Ball Supper on time, we will show you the "point". If selling one's goods, wares and merchandise on time, at an advance of one hundred per cent. on cost, and receiving therefor, collateral security, is "Charity" then Mr. Avet is truly charitable; and Mr. Nevit, our Sutler, is thrice charitable in daily disposing of his goods, and will, no doubt, be pleased to learn that he is thus appreciated.

We frankly confess that we are a humiliating lot of "cusses"—borne and still bear rather a bad reputation, but entertain the pleasing thought, however, that we are rapidly getting on "a par," etc. (you know the rest) still we do not acknowledge that we are yet subjects of charity. We are obliged to Mr. Avet for the accommodation, but in no wise are we under any further obligation. Do you see the "point?"

Now, Mr. "Local," allowing that both gentleman are charitable, will you not agree that the idea with them must necessarily predominate, that "Charity begins at home?"

We are sorry that you should suppose that we were finding fault with the Vedette, on the contrary, we fully appreciate and glory in the bold stand taken by the Vedette, in showing up the atrocities, moral and physical, of the Mormon Chiefs. We would, if necessary "back it up"—and who knows but what we may have a chance to convince you of the good will and esteem which we entertain for the Vedette, and every man connected with it? But we tell you what's the matter with us: We are getting "rusty." The non-appearance of the smiling countenance and nimble fingers of the G. B. Major, (God bless him) has made us "billionous"—we're "spillin' for a muss," and as a certain Irishman expressed himself at Donnybrook Fair, "the first man that treads on the tail of me coat will get bit," and having nobody to pitch into, have raised a muss with you "just for the fun of the thing. Do you see the "point?"

CAVALRY.

It seems that "CAVALRY" is really in a precarious predicament—"Verily he toiled much." But as it appears an impossibility for him to allow that a charitable act was recently performed in our Camp on the occasion of the anniversary Ball, and as our effort to convince him has been fraught with so little success—we would say to him, "Go on in thy mad career," we have begged thee to desist, but alas! thou wouldst not. Au revoir. LOCAL.

The Constitution of Nevada provides that three-fourths of a jury in any civil case may find a verdict unless the Legislature by a two-thirds vote shall require such verdict to be unanimous.

JAS. W. WALLACK, distinguished as an Actor and Manager, died in New York Dec. 25th, aged seventy years.

FLOUR is selling for seventy dollars per hundred in the Kootenai mines. A nice figure for "busted out" miners.

GEN. SHERIDAN now commands the armies of the Potomac and James vice Meade, removed.

COSTLY.—The new Catholic Cathedral of Philadelphia, has cost upwards of a million of dollars.

VINEGAR, so far as it is considered, is not without filial affection. It always dies when it loses its mother.

ONLY FOUR.—The Pension list shows only four of our Revolutionary soldiers remaining.

If you visit a sweet girl, and if you are won and she is won, you shall both be one.

CHINESE.—There are only forty-five thousand of this race in California.

LEE has refused to be commander-in-chief of the rebel armies.

MISPRISON of treason—asking a soldier to take dinner and desert.

REAL ESTATE has advanced to an enormous price in Central City, Colorado.

Local Matters.

IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.—On Monday evening there was a large and enthusiastic meeting held at the hall of the Y. M. L. Association by citizens of G. Salt Lake. A Christian Society was duly organized, Constitution adopted, and a Board of twelve Trustees elected for the ensuing year. The society is formed as auxiliary to the 1st Church of Christ in Utah, soon to be established, under the ministrations of Rev. Norman McLeod. Appropriate committees to attend to secular affairs were appointed, and we hope soon to chronicle the foundation of a church on a sure and permanent basis.

The good work is progressing and the day is not far distant when in Utah every man woman and child can worship God "under his own fig tree with none to make him afraid" and when, too, the voice of ministers of the living God will be heard throughout the land.

A GRAND BILLIARD MATCH came off at Martin's Saloon in G. S. L. City, on the evening of the 6th inst., between James Scott of Montana Ty., and Albert Smith of Salt Lake City. The game was 1000 points for $500 a side, and was won by Smith. The largest run was 55 which was made by Scott, Smith's largest run being 38. The average of the game was 7. It lasted 3 hours and 40 minutes, and was closely contested up to the last 300 points, when Scott seemed to let right down, Smith taking the lead and winning the game by 122 points. The room was crowded with spectators and at the end of the game all those who had witnessed it seemed well pleased with the exhibition of skill in the game shown by both parties.

We received news on Monday that no telegraphic communication had been held between Omaha and Fort Laramie for five days. The Indians hold the line between Mud Springs and Julesburg, on which they have inflicted some damage; but to what extent is not known.

On Saturday last the Indians attacked Mud Springs station. Reinforcements were immediately dispatched to that station.

On Monday last, 500 Indians carried on quite a desperate fight. Several of the troops were murdered, and many horses and mules were shot.

More troops, with artillery, have been sent to Mud Springs. The Indians have again severed the wires.

In another part of to-day's paper we publish a description of the ball given by the enlisted men at Fort Bridger, on the evening of the anniversary of the Battle of Bear River, to which we here with pleasure acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket.

We would like to have mingled in the mazy dance with our comrades at every post in this district, on that memorable evening (had it been possible,) for there is no one event to which we more delight in rendering homage, than the victory achieved by the "Fighting Second," and the "Gallant Third," on the banks of Bear River, on the freezing 29th of January, 1863.

Mr. WELTON, of the "Mansion House," by his thorough knowledge of the Hotel business, and by unremitting efforts to please his patrons, has made the Mansion House "The Hotel of S. L. City." His tables are loaded with everything, and of the best quality in Market—his rooms are neatly and comfortably furnished, and his prices are within the reach of all.

The Large Tent formerly occupied by the Good Templars, and also used for the Regimental Library, is being repaired and arranged for a Meat Market by Rosenbaum & Co. This firm continues to sell the very best of meats that can be procured.

DON'T FORGET YOUR GIRLS.—When I lived among the Choctaw Indians, says a traveler, I held a consultation with one of their chiefs, respecting the stages of their progress in the arts of civilized life, and among other things he informed me that at their start they made a great mistake—they only sent their boys to school. These boys came home intelligent men, but they married uneducated and uncivilized wives; and the uniform result was, the children were like their mothers. The father soon lost all his interest both in wife and children. And now, said he, if we would educate but one class of our children, we should choose the girls, for when they become mothers they educate their sons. This is the point, and it is true. No nation can become fully enlightened when mothers are not qualified to discharge the duties of home work of education. Parents give your daughters, as well as your sons, the best education in your power.

DOWN ON A GUERRILLA.—The San Andreas Register of January 21st relates the following:

The military company have a fine young eagle, some six or eight months old, which they keep in a large cage back of the armory. The cats have been in the habit of going in and stealing his meat, which has been put into him. One day this "General Grant," as the boys call him, pounced upon a large cat which had trespassed upon his domain to steal his dinner, and soon made meat of her.

A ROLLER boy of a printing office summoned his employer for five dollars due him for labor. The judge decided for the plaintiff on authority older than anything to be found in Coke or Blackstone—on the well recognized maxim that "the devil should have his due."

Too SHARP.—Judge Payne, of Hartford, was fond of quizzing, and one day he tried his hand upon Prince, a smart negro who was about the court-room. "Prince," said the judge, "did you know the devil was dead?" "No, Sah," replied Prince; "but I knowd he was in pain!"

SOLITUDE, says Seneca, makes us love ourselves, conversation others. The one to comfort, the other to heal; the one allays, the other whets and adds new vigor. Nothing pleases always, and therefore God who built us for labor, provides also with refreshment.
